EXPLANATORY NOTE

*This Explanatory Note was written as a reader's aid to Bill 31 and does not form part of the law.
Bill 31 has been enacted as Chapter 8 of the Statutes of Ontario, 2018.*

SCHEDULE 1 ASSESSMENT ACT

The Schedule amends the Assessment Act.

The Minister's powers to make regulations are expanded to include powers with respect to the procedure for determining whether land is in an optional property class or optional property subclass. They are also expanded to allow regulations to enable municipalities to specify individual properties that are in property classes or property subclasses.

A new property tax exemption is provided for land that is used as a non-profit child care centre in a location that would be exempt if it were occupied by the land's owner.

New rules are set out to clarify the interaction between the Assessment Act and the Municipal Tax Assistance Act with respect to crown lands that have tenants.

Starting after 2020, the day as of which land is valued for each general reassessment is changed to January 1 of the year that precedes by two years the first taxation year to which the reassessment applies.

Annual statements by railway companies are required to show such other information related to the operation or use of the railway as may be prescribed.

SCHEDULE 2 CITY OF TORONTO ACT, 2006

Currently, section 135 of the City of Toronto Act, 2006 governs by-laws that change the composition of city council. Clause 135 (4) (b) prevents such a by-law that is passed in the year of a regular election before voting day from coming into force until after the second regular election following the passage of the by-law. Section 135 is amended to permit a by-law that is passed on or after January 1, 2018 and on or before June 30, 2018 to, if it so provides, come into force as early as the day the new council is organized after the 2018 regular election. If such a by-law is passed, a determination by the Superior Court of Justice shall not be made under subsection 83 (1) of the Municipal Elections Act, 1996 by reason only of the clerk of the City doing anything, before the by-law is passed, in relation to the conduct of the 2018 regular election as if the by-law were or were not already in effect.

SCHEDULE 3 CLIMATE CHANGE MITIGATION AND LOW-CARBON ECONOMY ACT, 2016

The Schedule amends the Climate Change Mitigation and Low-carbon Economy Act, 2016 with respect to reimbursement of expenditures incurred by the Crown for the purposes of funding initiatives that are reasonably likely to reduce, or support the reduction of, greenhouse gas.

Currently, the Act provides that certain expenditures that were incurred by the Crown on or after November 1, 2015 and before the Act came into force can be reimbursed from the Consolidated Revenue Fund and charged to the Greenhouse Gas Reduction Account. The Schedule amends the Act to provide that $366,445,123 is deemed, as of March 31, 2018, to be charged to the Greenhouse Gas Reduction Account as reimbursement for expenditures that were incurred by the Crown on or after November 1, 2015 and on or before March 31, 2017 but were not reimbursed from the Account before the books of the Government of Ontario were closed for the fiscal year in which the expenditures were incurred. That provision applies despite the general rule that reimbursement for expenditures incurred by the Crown shall not be made after the books of the Government of Ontario are closed for the fiscal year in which the expenditures are incurred. That provision is repealed as of January 1, 2019.

SCHEDULE 12
HOSPITAL LABOUR DISPUTES ARBITRATION ACT

Preamble

Canadian Blood Services manages the national supply of critical life-saving blood, blood products and stem cells, and related services for Ontario, as well as for other provinces and territories, with the exception of Québec. Canadian Blood Services also provides select national organ and tissue donation and transplantation programs on behalf of these provinces and territories. The delivery of these services by Canadian Blood Services is critical for patient outcomes in Ontario.

Work stoppages at Canadian Blood Services threaten to have serious health consequences for patients and their families, as they impact blood collection, Canadian Blood Services' manufacturing processes, and the delivery of vital blood and blood related products utilized in the health system. Shortages of blood and blood products have the potential to impact and endanger the health and lives of those who need or rely on them for ongoing treatment or in emergency situations.

Canadian Blood Services' supply of Type O-negative red blood cells and platelets is especially time and inventory sensitive. Under normal conditions, Canadian Blood Services can only maintain a few days of Type O-negative red blood cell supply. Platelets have a shelf life of only seven days. An immediate supply pressure on Type O-negative red blood cells and platelets is a major risk to Ontario's and Canada's health systems. Type O-negative red blood cells are a critical product for hospital emergency treatments. Platelets are necessary for trauma patients, life-threatening bleeding, major surgeries and critically ill oncology patients. Any delay or insufficiency in the Type O-negative red blood cell or platelet supply may result in death.

Protecting the health and lives of Ontarians by ensuring that Ontarians have access to a safe and adequate supply of blood, plasma and blood products is a key priority for the Government of Ontario. With almost 50 per cent of the national blood supply collected and produced in Ontario, an interruption of the operations of Canadian Blood Services in this province would also have significant health implications nationally. Having regard to these critical health concerns, the public interest requires an exceptional solution that respects the collective bargaining process but which replaces strikes and lock-outs with a fair and neutral interest arbitration process to resolve disputes that cannot be resolved at the bargaining table.

Exclusion may be limited geographically

(3) An exclusion, under subsection (2), of a bargaining relationship related to concrete formwork may be limited by the Minister to specified geographic areas, and the following apply if an exclusion is so limited:

1. For greater certainty, the exclusion applies in the specified geographic areas and a collective agreement for those areas is deemed to be a province-wide collective agreement for the purposes of this section.
2. With respect to employees working in the geographic areas where the exclusion does not apply,
 - i. if an employer was bound, immediately before the geographic limitation took effect, by a formwork agreement, the employer is bound by the corresponding provincial agreements, subject to sub-subparagraph ii A,
 - ii. if an employer was bound, immediately before the geographic limitation took effect, by a formwork agreement in respect of a concrete formwork project that was already underway when the geographic limitation took effect,
 - A. subparagraph i does not apply to the employer in respect of that project, and
 - B. the formwork agreement, including any renewal formwork agreement bargained by the council under subparagraph iii, continues to bind the employer in respect of that project until the project is concluded,
 - iii. while the employer is bound, under sub-subparagraph ii B, by the formwork agreement, the council of trade unions that bargained for the formwork agreement shall continue to represent the employees with respect to whom the formwork agreement applies under sub-subparagraph ii B as their bargaining agent and, for greater certainty, the council may bargain for the renewal of the formwork agreement, with or without modifications,
 - iv. the following apply with respect to employees with respect to whom a formwork agreement applied immediately before the geographic limitation took effect, if there is a corresponding provincial agreement that would apply with respect to the employees under subparagraph i:
 - A. if the geographic limitation takes effect during the term of the corresponding provincial agreement and the corresponding provincial agreement does not include terms and conditions of employment that would apply to employees engaged, in the geographic areas where the exclusion no longer applies, in concrete formwork to which the formwork agreement would have applied, the corresponding provincial agreement shall be deemed to include the terms and conditions of employment of the formwork agreement, and
 - B. sub-subparagraph A does not apply to a corresponding provincial agreement or formwork agreement that is entered into after the geographic limitation took effect,
 - v. the following apply with respect to employees with respect to whom a formwork agreement applied immediately before the geographic limitation took effect, if there is no corresponding provincial agreement that would apply with respect to the employees under subparagraph i:
 - A. if subparagraph ii applies in respect of the employees,
 1. an application for certification in respect of the employees, to be dealt with under section 8 or 128.1, may be made at any time, despite any limit on when such an application may be made that would otherwise apply because the employer is bound by a formwork agreement under subparagraph ii or because the council of trade unions represents the employees as their bargaining agent under subparagraph iii, and
 2. subparagraphs ii and iii cease to apply with respect to the employees if a union is certified to represent the employees, or
 - B. if subparagraph ii does not apply in respect of the employees, for greater certainty, an application for certification may be made or a voluntary recognition agreement entered into in respect of the employees in the same way as could be done if no trade union were certified as bargaining agent of the employees and the employees were not bound by a collective agreement.

Exclusion may be limited to bargaining agents

(3.1) A limitation to a specified geographic area under subsection (3) may apply to the exclusion of a bargaining relationship under subsection (2) in the designation, under subsection (1), of only one of the employee bargaining agencies, and the following apply if the limitation applies in that way:

1. The paragraphs of subsection (3) apply, with necessary modifications and with such modifications as are prescribed, with respect to the employees who, as a result of the application of the limitation to the exclusion in the designation of only one of the employee bargaining agencies, are no longer represented by an affiliated bargaining agent that is part of the council of trade unions referred to in subsection (2).
2. If the application of the limitation results in there being only a single affiliated bargaining agent for a geographic area, that single affiliated bargaining agent is deemed to be a council of trade unions for that area for the purposes of subsection (2).

3. A corresponding limitation may be made to the exclusion of a bargaining relationship under subsection (2) in the designation, under subsection (1), of one or more employer bargaining agencies.
