ORDERS OF THE DAY

Opposition Day

Mr. Tory moved,

That, in the opinion of this House, an alarming number of murders and other violent crimes are alleged to be committed by people who were out on bail for crimes previously alleged to be committed;

That, in the opinion of this House, the government should adopt a policy to direct Crown Attorneys to oppose the making of all orders for bail for violent crimes;

That, in the opinion of this House, the government should seek a review of all orders granting bail for charges involving violent crimes;

That, in the opinion of this House, the issue of crimes alleged to be committed by people already out on bail is of increasing concern to the people of Ontario;

That, in the opinion of this House, the lack of statistics relating to bail orders and court proceedings prevents the public from obtaining an accurate picture of the functioning of the justice system; and

That, in the opinion of this House, the government should begin providing more detailed information about the justice system in order to ensure Ontarians have an accurate picture of whether the justice system is functioning well and in the best interests of public safety.

A debate arising, after some time, the motion was lost on the following division:-
